

Future Continuous - A Review

To form the future continuous, we add _____ (“ed”, “ing”) at the end of the main verb.

1.

After we have added “ing” to the main verb, we add the auxiliary verb _____ (“would”, “will”) followed by the auxiliary verb _____ (“be”, “is”) before it.

2.

The auxiliary verbs “will” and “be” need to be _____ (conjugated, non conjugated) to form the future continuous.

3.

The equation for forming the future continuous tense is:

4. Subject + auxiliary verb _____ (will, be) + auxiliary verb _____ (have, be) + main verb

When we contract “she will,” it becomes _____ (she’ll, she’ll).

5.

When we contract “I will,” it becomes _____ (I’ll, I’ll).

6.

When we contract “will not”, it becomes _____ (won’t, won’t).

7.

The future continuous tense describes an action at a particular moment in the _____ (future, past).

8.

The action of a future continuous verb can be _____ (ongoing, not ongoing).

9.

“Bill will be hanging out in the park on Friday.”

10. This sentence is in the future continuous tense. It’s an action that will take place in the future

“Bill will hang out in the park on Friday.”

11. This sentence is in the simple future tense. It’s also an action that will take place in the future

Simple future describes:

12. an action that is happening right now
 an action will happen in the future but will be ongoing
 an action that will happen at some point in the future
 an action that has already happened at some point in the past
13. an action that is happening right now
 an action will happen in the future but will be ongoing
 an action that will happen at some point in the future
 an action that has already happened at some point in the past

Which of the following sentences is a negative version of this sentence?

14. She will be giving the speech tomorrow.

- She tomorrow will not be giving the speech.
- She will be not giving the speech tomorrow.
- She will be giving the speech not tomorrow.
- She will not be giving the speech tomorrow.

15. Samantha will be cleaning the house today.

- Samantha not will be cleaning the house today.
- Samantha cleaning will not be the house today.
- Samantha today will not be cleaning the house.
- Samantha will not be cleaning the house today.